Main Street Parking Plan Is Approved

Main Street parking meters located between Chestnut and Elm Streets will be sporting hoods this winter while Town Fathers keep an eye out to see what motorists will do with such unfamiliar freedom.

If they exercise admirable self-restraint, practice good sportsmanship and all that, it could mean eventual elimination of on-street parking meters in Andover.

The unique experiment was proposed by Selectman Philip K. Allen on Monday, and approved by the balance of the Board. He suggested a 90-day trial, beginning Oct. 1, pointing out that this period would include two major holidays and the bulk of the bad weather season. This, he indicated, should be an acid test.

Parking will not be completely unrestrained, however. A reasonable time limit for Main Street stops is to be established by the chief of police and the town manager, posted and enforced in the best manner possible.

The Board went also with Allen's suggestion that the whole of the municipal parking lot be covered with 2 to 10 hour meters, providing long-term parking for those who need it and at the same time boosting meter revenues. At present the lot is only partially protected by 10 cent meters.

ILLUSTRATIVE PLAN FOR RE-USE OF EXISTING TOWN HALL BLOCK

SITE DEVELOPMENT PLANS for the present Town Hall block are arranged for exhibit at Andover Savings Bank by Richard MacGowan, vice president and treasurer. These plans, along with similar layouts to show what can be done with landscaping to create a setting for a municipal office building in Elm Square, will be discussed publicly Thursday and presented at Town Meeting Monday.

Town Meeting Preview

Downtown Plan Developed

Townpeople who attend a public meeting at Central School tonight will have a chance to see in advance of Town Meeting just how the Selectmen's Lally-Barnard proposal for a municipal office building in Elm Square fits into a 10-point scheme for revitalization of the central business district.

Charts and diagrams will be used to illustrate the possibilities, hopefully for a mass audience. Invitations to the 8 p.m. meeting have been especially issued to some who play a prominent role in community affairs, but the meeting is open and intended as an opportunity for voters to pre-think some of the questions to be considered at next week's special Town Meeting.

The board will unveil color sketches of a site development plan prepared by a company of landscape architects. The plan shows where a 21,000 square foot town office building should sit on the pie-shaped Lally-Barnard property and suggests precisely what kind of trees, ground covers etc. should be used to dramatize the site and conceal from view the eight public parking spaces designed for in front and the 30 employee spaces arranged at the rear.

The landscapers propose that the sharp point of the "pie" be eliminated, along with the police box which would round off the end of the property and permit easier vehicular access to Main Street from Elm.

In a preliminary discussion of the plot plan, the landscapers explained to the Selectmen this week that the layout is planned in such a way that pedestrians need not have any confrontation with automobiles after they have crossed the intersection. A walkway to the town hall would run along the Main Street side of the property, completely avoiding the small, shrub enclosed parking area.

Commenting that it was not part of their assignment to get involved with suggesting a new traffic plan for Elm Square, the spokesman for the landscape firm did say that his people believe such a plan is highly desirable.

The company also suggested that the town eventually acquire a side yard from the lot immediately adjoining the Lally-Barnard property, perhaps in exchange for a comparable portion of the back land that is included in the present town hall proposal. This, they said, would open up a strip of land for additional parking that is now impractical for such a purpose.

Another of the 10 points relates to a suggestion for development of the present town-hall block, once it has been cleared of the Townpeople who qualify but are not yet registered as voters in Andover have just three days to take care of registration if they plan to attend the Oct. 3 Special Town Meeting.

Registrations are being accepted at the town clerk's office in Town Hall. In addition to the regular hours, the office will be open Saturday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. There will be other opportunities for voters to register for the general election in November, but this will be the last opportunity for those who expect to vote at Town Meeting Monday.

The deadline for registration for the November election is Oct. 8. The clerk's office will be open from noon until 10 p.m. on that last day.

Teachers' Hearing Is Held

The State Labor Relations Commission did not make an on-the-spot decision Wednesday about whether or not a secret collective bargaining election should be held for Andover teachers, but it did authorize the tentative scheduling of such an election for Oct. 20.

Town Counsel Frederic O'Brien said following the morning hearing that it was his impression an election would be approved. Providing the Commission's decision is in line with this impression, and providing it is handed down in time, the balloting will take place between 3 and 6 p.m. in the Central School Gym on Oct. 20.

To be determined is whether or not Andover school teachers wish to collective bargain as members of the Andover Teachers Assn. under the terms of a relatively new State law which permits municipal employees to organize.

The Commission has also been asked by the School Committee to determine whether or not department heads should bargain with teachers or administrators if representation is approved by a sufficient number of the school system's professionals.

The Andover Teachers Assn. contends that it has written authorization for representation from 84% of the teachers in the system. The School Committee's position is that the method by which these signatures were collected suggests that they may not have been as voluntarily obtained as the association claims. The cards were circulated through the schools and collected by ATA representatives. Counsel O'Brien represented the School Committee at yesterday's hearing and Committeemen William Doherty and Virginia Cole

FIRE BARN

Robert Henderson did say, however, that he regarded the North Main Street site as a better location for the fire station.

By Monday, however, the situation was changing. The selectmen met for lunch, without Manager Richard Bowen, and afterward reports of a Supplemental Warrant began to circulate.

Contractor Giles confirmed Tuesday that he told the board Monday he was willing to accept $150,000 for a section of his property that would include 140 feet of the 192 feet frontage on Main Street. It would be located at the corner of Main and Lewis Streets and run in the rear to adjoin land that is part of the town's department of public works complex, a distance of some 280 feet.

Still to be negotiated, apparently is the question of demolition of the shell of the old brick warehouse. Giles said his price does not include demolition which he estimates would cost an estimated $10,000. In other words, the town would have to invest a total of $160,000 to acquire and clear the property. At least one Selectman is under the impression, however, that Giles is prepared to include the demolition as part of his $150,000 offer.

At the dinner conference last week, Contractor Giles told the Board that he did not consider any proposal that called for destruction of the brick warehouse practical and he restated his opinion that the location could not make money sense unless the building shell was utilized, either for a town hall-police station-fire station complex or for a fire and police station. He said Tuesday that he is still of this opinion.

Asked why he would be willing to split his holdings in a valuable industrial zone and drop his plans for development of an apartment building in the warehouse, Mr. Giles said that he has "found greener pastures elsewhere." He explained that he has found it easier to do business in other than his home town.

He was unable to explain what his plans would be for use of the 52 foot frontage he expects to retain on Main Street. As possibilities he mentioned an access to the rear of the property, a small commercial establishment or an expansion of the Friendly parking area.

Chairman William Stewart released a statement Wednesday to explain the board's move for a revote of fire station funds.

In the statement Stewart said: "It is the considered judgment of the Board of Selectmen that there are fewer disadvantages to the development of this site than would be the case on Stevens Street. Travel on Harding Street would not be necessary . . . and the North Main Street hill, particularly in the winter time, would not present the problems that would attach themselves to the Stevens Street site. . . . The price of $150,000 for a large part of this property, though not small, nevertheless, in the judgment of the Board of Selectmen, represents a sound investment in the future of the Town."

Bowen Explains Station Remarks

Selectman Sidney P. White told Manager Richard Bowen last week that if Andover firefighters were polled for their opinion, the results would show that they are opposed to construction of a central fire station at the corner of Main and Stevens Streets.

Bowen replied: "I don't care what they think. But I do care what the people think."

This week he explained his report in a letter to Board Chairman William Stewart, commenting that his remark had apparently been "misinterpreted" to the derogation of his office as well as that of the Fire Department.

Stating that he had had long conferences with the fire chief in the consideration of station locations, Bowen said. . . "It has been and it always will be my policy to be concerned primarily with the informed and professional opinions of department heads." He added, "It has not been nor will it be my practice to conduct polls of the members of any given department on a particular project . . . although it would appear that this has been done by a member of the Board of Selectmen. . . ."

The statement continued: "I respect fully and completely the dedication and competence of members of the Fire Department in protecting the lives and property of the citizens of the Town of Andover. Our department is a superior one and worthy of my respect. . . ."

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Career opportunities for women are still quite limited in her country, but she says women with college degrees can find jobs with the government or in education.

Asked about the political turmoil in her country, the soft spoken brunette replies that one is very conscious of the infiltration of Communists in Laos. There are student parades and perpetual reports of Communist incidents. And how do the people of Laos feel about America? Most, she believes, feel that the United States is really interested in their country and really helping with solutions to their problems. But there are many people who feel more akin to France and England than the U. S.

The Laotian school system is organized quite differently than that of this country, Medkham says. The public school student goes to secondary school through a 13th year, by which time he is 20 to 21 years old. With this background he is quite fluent in French and has had a good grounding in English as well.

On hand at AHS to shed still another point of view on world affairs is Lissa Vogt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Johnson Vogt, 50 Wildwood Rd. Lissa spent the summer in Germany as an AFS student, living in one rural and one metropolitan community during the two months.

The head of the household in her Gutersloh was employed by a big-city industry and in Muhlerten the Andover teenager lived with a dairy farmer and his family. (As a sideline, the farmer ran his own schnapps distillery!)

The high school senior reports that the Germans she had an opportunity to question are "afraid of the idea of another super-nation and quick to say that they would not like to be as big as the United States nor to have her international responsibilities."

Lissa says she saw absolutely nothing to indicate that any resurgence of Nazism is likely in Germany and she said she was told repeatedly that most Germans really did not know about the horrors being perpetrated by the Nazi government during World War II. And is she convinced that they did not know? She is almost certain, but not quite.

So far as Lissa was able to learn, realistic Germans do not expect to see their country reunited. They talk about it, she reports, but without any real conviction. "I think they feel they have grown too far apart as separate countries to ever be reunited," she explains.

Lissa found Germans quite "Americanized," their life quite commercialized and few of them "typically German."

While living abroad, the Andover girl attended three weeks of school and traveled extensively in mid-section of Germany, including parts of both the British and U. S. zones of occupation.

Players Plan Store Opening

The Repertory Theatre Company, which makes weekly appearances at Rolling Green Motor Inn, will open soon a unique gift and fashion shop at its rehearsal headquarters on the third floor of the Dow Block building, 3 Central Square, Stoneham. Proceeds from the new operation will augment funds being raised for the building of a theater.

Only two years old, the Theatre Company has pioneered its way by first emphasizing the use of its touring productions as fund raisers by civic and social organizations and by secondly establishing the showing of outstanding plays in Repertory at its Thursday Night Theatre series at Rolling Green. In addition it made a preliminary appearance at the famous Lake Tarlton Club in Pike, N. H. this past summer and plans for appearances there next summer are being made.

Its third innovation, the gift and fashion shop, will actually be the start of the Theatre Company's ultimate "theatre periphery plan" which includes such a shop.

The uniqueness of this shop will lie in the fact that the majority of its wares will be created by the resident members of the company. Included will be paintings, (oils and water colors), clothing originals designed by the company's costume head, individualized stationery marked with original sketches denoting famous plays and gift items of a general nature. The shop will be run with an intimate atmosphere and coffee will be served. Ultimately it will feature book, play and movie reviews and other art news available to subscribers in newsletter form.

Concurrent with these plans the Theatre Company is conducting a "Be An Angel" campaign in which persons interested in becoming a patron of the Theatre are asked to submit donations. In return, patrons are listed on all programs and receive an "Angel" pin.

The Theatre Company, is one of the few, if not the only, such companies serving a suburban New England area on a year-round basis. It looks to the support by residents to enable it to enlarge its production schedules.

Miss Wendi Markert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Markert, former Chestnut Street residents, is a student at Northfield School for Girls.

Private School Educators Hear Talent Search Reports

Representatives from 105 independent schools across the country met at Phillips Academy Sunday and Monday for the annual meeting of the Independent Schools Talent Search Program, more commonly recognized by the name of its summer ABC (A Better Chance) Schools.

The headmasters, directors of admissions and other representatives who congregated Monday heard reports from ISTSP's Board of Trustees and participated in afternoon seminars conducted by Fred B. Gannon of the Educational Testing Service; Noel A. Day, executive director of Saint Marks Social Center in Boston; Hugh Satterlee of the Office of Education; Hugh Lane, director of the National Achievement Scholarship Program; William B. Dunham, vice president of Carleton College; and Robert Binswanger from Harvard and the national advisory committee of Upward Bound.

Directors of the five ABC summer schools at Carleton, Dartmouth, Duke, Mt. Holyoke and Williams also discussed the eight week programs at their schools where economically disadvantaged students received intensive instruction in English and mathematics to prepare them for admission to private schools where they have been conditionally accepted for fall, 1967. Of the 429 new students accepted by member schools through the recommendations of ISTSP, some 372 attended one of the five ABC summer programs.

Funds to support these students come from foundations, business, and the Office of Economic Opportunity. Members schools are also required to provide one scholarship from their own funds after which ISTSP will make additional scholarships available.

In his report, James Simmons, executive director of ISTSP and new resident of Andover, said that Congress has been asked for funds for 1967-68 to support 100 students beginning their third year in member schools, 300 students who will begin their second year in Sept., 1967, 350 students enrolling for their first year, as well as for funds for 350 students to attend the transitional summer ABC programs.

Phillips Academy this fall enrolled ten new boys recommended through ISTSP who join seven others in their second or third years at PA. In addition to Headmaster John M. Kemper's interest in the program as a member of the board of trustees, several members of the PA faculty have taught at the summer ABC programs. Thomas Mikula, on leave of absence from Andover, has served as mathematics coordinator at Dartmouth and is now in Hanover in charge of a pilot project which has enrolled eight ABC boys at Hanover High School. Last summer Richard Lux of PA's math department taught in the Williams program, and Meredith Price was an instructor in English at the Carleton College ABC summer school.

Interfaith Movement Is Underway

Andover's interfaith movement gained momentum Saturday when members of the Congregational, Lutheran, Roman Catholic, Anglican, Episcopal, Baptist and other churches, closed ranks to form study groups for the coming season.

Rev. Bruce VanBlair, whose West Parish Congregational church played host to the group said his usual roll as pastor was to organize, and then speak - and that it was refreshing to be asked to speak before a group which had organized itself. In his topic "Grass Roots Ecumenism," Mr. VanBlair cautioned, "do not let trivial things divide you." He expressed deep concern and a lively interest in what the future holds for this pilot venture.

Lending further unity to the evening's activity were two lay speakers, William R. Neisser of West Parish Congregational church and Edward Staats of St. Robert Bellarmine parish whose subject was "Past Experience with Interfaith Groups." John Johnson of the Faith Lutheran church explained the text which the groups are to use, "Living Room Dialogue," a book which concentrates on areas of common belief among Christians.

Closing remarks were presented by Fr. Paul Keyes of St. Robert Bellarmine Church who read a poem, which points out that until the sin of separation is overcome, Christ will continue to suffer on the cross. The assembly then split into groups and departed for the homes of "host couple" for the initial get-together.

The meeting was conducted by Alfred Koch, chairman.

Assisting were: Mrs. Beverly Gerstenberger, William Lawson, Mrs. Sandra Trull, James Devlin, Mrs. Constance Gilmore, Robert King, Mrs. Marian Koch and Richard Marciano.

Persons interested in joining an interfaith group may contact any of the persons listed above for information.

unexpected proposal Allen told the Selectmen that a check of parking revenues reveals that since 1960 the town has been spending more for its parking operation than it has collected from meters. He said that in the past five years meter income has ranged from $6370 in 1962 to $8709 in 1963. On the other hand, he said, expenses have ranged from a low of $8,024 in 1964 to a high of $14,064 in 1963.

Allen said he believed that revenue from a re-metered parking lot should at least equal that now collected from all meters. He added that removal of the meters would fit in with the "face-lifting" of downtown sidewalks, especially if trees are set out along Main Street as has been suggested.

As a further proposal, the former chairman of the board recommended creation of a permanent Town Beautification Committee responsible for looking at the whole town and suggesting "a continued program of public and private improvements to keep Andover the attractive town we want it to be." The committee was approved and will include members from such organizations as the Andover Garden Club, Shawshen Woman's Club, Girl and Boy Scouts, the Conservation Commission, Planning Board, Historical Society and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In introducing his test plan, Allen stated: "For some time now much has been said about downtown Andover but with few exceptions - work done by Lincoln Giles, Phidias Dantos, John Davidson and Dana Hill, to mention a few - nothing has been done. It is the duty of the Selectmen, I feel to take the leadership in this matter..."

Allen said he realizes that the parking experiment will be successful "only if all of the citizens of Andover are considerate..." and he suggested that the self-regulated parking be observed carefully to see what effect it will have on downtown business.

Earlier this year the Selectmen voted to purchase new meters for both street and off-street parking under a three-year installment plan.

Bids for the new meters were accepted, but returned when the Selectmen decided not to proceed after all. The fact that the municipal parking lot had not been eliminated as a possible town hall location was cited at the time.

Harvard Organist Plays Century Old Hall Organ

John Ferris, organist and choir-master at Harvard University Memorial Church, will play the 100-year old Walcher organ at Methuen Memorial Music Hall tomorrow night in a concert that begins at 8:30.

Ferris is a graduate of Michigan State University and the School of Sacred Music, Union Theological Seminary. He also studied with Marcel Dupre at the University of Chicago. From assistant to Vernon DeTar at New York's Church of the Ascension, he went to the First Methodist Church, Red Bank, N. J. And in 1958 he was appointed to his present position at Harvard where he currently holds the post of lecturer on liturgical music.

His Methuen program includes:

Toccata on Fuga in C - Johann Gottfried Walther; Choral Prelude on "Warum betrübst du dich, mein Herz" - Johann Gottfried Walther; Prelude and Fugue in C minor, BWV 546 - Johann Sebastian Bach; Benedictus, op. 59 - Max Reger; Te Deum, op. 59 - Max Reger; Fantaisie in A - Cesar Franck; Le Jardin suspendu - Jehan Alain; Fantasia in F minor, K. 608 - Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart.

On Friday, Oct. 28 at 8:30 p.m., Carl Weinrich of Princeton University will play the second fall series organ concert at Methuen.

From Maine to Virginia, the main causes for the destruction of wetlands are ditching for mosquito control and draining for agricultural purposes.

DR. GEORGE W. ARTHUR
Andover Dentist
Back From Navy

Dr. George W. Arthur Jr. has returned to Andover after serving two years in the U. S. Navy Dental Corps. He has opened offices at Olde Andover Village, 93 Main St.

In his years with the Navy, Dr. Arthur was attached to the 3rd Marine Air Wing, stationed in El Toro, Calif.

The dentist received his bachelor of science degree in biology from Tufts University in 1960 and a degree as a doctor of dental medicine from the Tufts School of Dental Medicine four years later. He is a member of the professional fraternity Delta Sigma Delta and of the American Dental Assn.

Dr. Arthur is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Arthur Sr., 4 Poplar Ter. He is married to the former Sandra Bridge of Bradford, R. I. The couple has three children.

Therapy Is Club Topic

The Spade & Trowel Garden Club will meet Oct. 11 in the recreation room of Chestnut Court Associates, where the members maintain a garden they started six years ago. Future plans for a "garden therapy" program at the housing center for the retired elderly will be discussed.

Club president Mrs. Mary McDougall, 15 Cabot Rd., welcomed new members Mrs. H. Jerome Crampton, Mrs. John F. Moriarty and Mrs. Christopher Sherman at the group's initial meeting of the fall season held at the president's home.

Following a business meeting and a covered dish supper, club member Mrs. Kingman Webster showed colored slides of her recent trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Tax Survey

Field assessors working on the town tax revaluation program have moved further into West Andover.

They are working now on River Road, Brundrett Avenue, Cypress Lane and Cross Street, as well as finishing up on other streets already in progress.

Gardeners Conference To Be Held In Boston

Mrs. Byron R. Cleveland and Mrs. Edwin L. Bramley, both of Andover, are members of the arrangements committee for the annual Fall Conference of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts. It will be held at the Morse Auditorium, Museum of Science, Boston, on Monday, Oct. 10.

Federation president Mrs. Ralph L. Davis of Lexington will welcome representatives from over 180 Massachusetts garden clubs at this event, which will begin with coffee and registration at 9:30 a.m.

Emphasizing her theme "Enchantment of Nature by the Hand of Man," Mrs. Davis has planned a program to assist local club officers. Mrs. E. Olsen Field of Weston, chairman of the Landscape Design Study Course, will present a film "Legacy of Learning." Prepared by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, the film stresses individual club participation in a civic development and the "war on ugliness."

As a special feature, Mrs. Hollis L. Gray of Belmont will give a "Sneak Preview of Christmas Ideas" with helpful suggestions for club members.

Reservations for the 12:30 p.m. luncheon should be sent to Mrs. Irving W. Mack, 214 Mt. Vernon St., Lawrence, 01843.

Youth Center Begins Season

The Andover Youth Center has begun to accept registrations for this season's activities. Its doors are already open.

Art classes for adults and children have been scheduled for this year and the top-floor studio has been redecorated for that purpose.

And once again, the Center will offer swimming instruction at the Phillips Academy Pool. There will be a fitness class for women on Monday nights and beginners bridge for adults on Wednesdays. Registration for any of these programs should be made immediately.

Groups interested in using Center meeting or activity rooms should make early reservations.

COFFMAN PLAYING

Tom Coffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Coffman, 3 Central Ln., is among the veteran letterman at Swarthmore College who will be in the lineup when the Pennsylvania college meets Dickinson College, Oct. 1.

Therapy Is Club Topic

The Spade & Trowel Garden Club will meet Oct. 11 in the recreation room of Chestnut Court Associates, where the members maintain a garden they started six years ago. Future plans for a "garden therapy" program at the housing center for the retired elderly will be discussed.

Club president Mrs. Mary McDougall, 15 Cabot Rd., welcomed new members Mrs. H. Jerome Crampton, Mrs. John F. Moriarty and Mrs. Christopher Sherman at the group's initial meeting of the fall season held at the president's home.

Following a business meeting and a covered dish supper, club member Mrs. Kingman Webster showed colored slides of her recent trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Tax Survey

Field assessors working on the town tax revaluation program have moved further into West Andover.

They are working now on River Road, Brundrett Avenue, Cypress Lane and Cross Street, as well as finishing up on other streets already in progress.

Station Site Controversial

(A TOWNSMAN Round Up)

The woods are full of fire station experts. They have become almost as prevalent as town hall experts in the two weeks since the Selectmen first made serious mention of asking voters to let them build a new central fire station on a corner portion of the old Tyer Rubber warehouse property half way up the hill on Main Street instead of at the foot of the hill on Stevens.

Now that the amateurs and politicians have had their say, the Selectmen have called in the professionals. Joseph O'Keefe, the same representative of the New England Insurance Rating Assn. who consulted with the town on this question in 1962, came to town yesterday to have a look at the warehouse site. His opinion is to be written and available in time for Town Meeting. He is expected not only to say what he thinks about the proposed new site, but to compare it with the previously recommended location.

Meanwhile the Finance Committee has not only endorsed the Selectmen's proposal for acquisition of the new site, but has said that it believes the town should acquire all rather than part of the acreage now owned by Contractor C. Lincoln Giles.

Fin Com Chairman Henderson explains that since the town will probably be in need of land in the next ten years or so for other building or parking facilities, it should acquire it at the bargain rate Giles is offering. Every square foot Giles holds at his suggested rate of $1.50 pushes the price per square foot higher on the section the town has stated its interest in acquiring, Henderson says. To something over $4 per square foot, he estimates.

Disagreeing with the Selectmen and the Finance Committee is the Planning Board which has taken a position in opposition to a fire station on the warehouse block. Chairman Harold King says it is not in keeping with planning criteria for location of such a facility, one of which rules out situating a fire station on the main street.

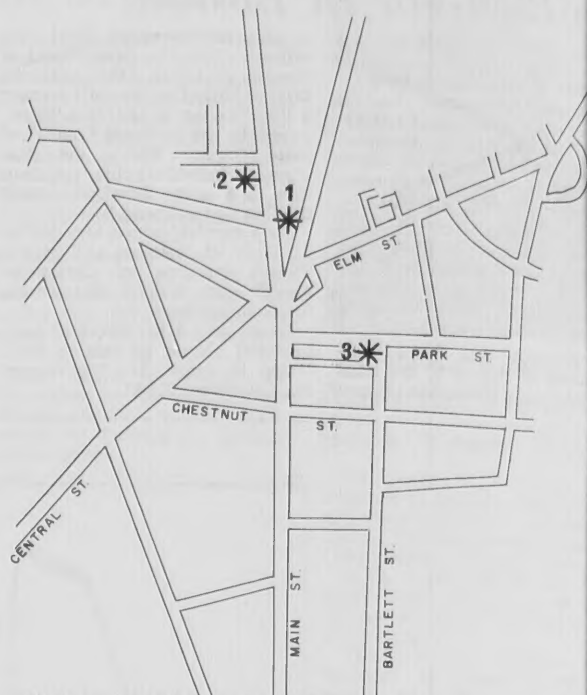

Giles initially told the Selectmen that he wanted $225,000 for the entire package which includes 192 feet of frontage and nearly an acre of land in all. The available piece wraps around behind Friendly Ice Cream, providing additional frontage on Pearson Street.

This week Selectman Roger Collins said at one point he thought the price was down to $212,000 and from Selectman Sidney P. White came the opinion that he thinks the whole plot can be acquired for as little as $180,000 to $190,000.

Giles acquired the property in May, 1963. It is assessed for $91,400. Of this total, $70,100 is for the building and $21,300 for the land. Annual taxes on both are currently $3,106.

So far no one has asked Fire Chief Henry Hilton for an official reaction to the move for a site change. He restated his personal preference this week for the Stevens Street location which he maintains is centrally situated in the high risk section of town — between the business district and the largest industrial complex. He said he also likes the training possibilities that proximity to the Shawsheen river and an abandoned railroad tower provide. Hilton has previously approved the site because it would eliminate the need for crossing the railroad track to get to the high school and beyond.

Opponents of the location including a number of vocal firefighters point to the impossibility of taking heavy equipment over the Harding Street railroad bridge, the problems that might be encountered in getting equipment up the Main Street hill in winter and the distance between Stevens Street and the business district and South Main Andover residences.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS PLOTTED — Town Meeting will consider Monday the location of a municipal office building on the Lally-Barnard property at the intersection of Main and High Streets (1), a fire station on N. Main Street next to Friendly's Restaurant (2). A sketch showing a Colonial police station on Park Street (3) will also be discussed.

The Stevens Street site was initially recommended in 1962 when a municipal building committee did a report in connection with urban renewal plans. The Insurance Rating Assn. consultant's first choice, Chief Hilton reports, was land then already earmarked for construction of MacDonald's Hamburg stand. His second choice was the area were Shawsheen Plaza was shortly to be constructed. Stevens Street was then selected as the next best alternative.

There was no consideration of the Tyer Rubber property at the time because it was still being used by the local manufacturer.

Strange Words

When you receive a prescription from your physician, you may notice that he writes strange words, abbreviations, letters or numbers similar to the above on the prescription blank. Perhaps you wonder why the doctor uses such a system rather than writing everything in English. Is this done to merely mystify the patient, or is it the most reliable way for your doctor to communicate with your pharmacist as to your medical needs?

The system of writing prescriptions in Latin is an ancient one. Even today, it remains as the quickest and most reliable way for a physician to indicate to a pharmacist information about dosage and directions for a drug product.

The fact that both your pharmacist and physician must understand this method of writing prescriptions is another indication of how closely they work together as a team. It is the pooling of their knowledge of the medical sciences with reliable methods of communicating this knowledge to one another that assures you of your most valuable asset—good health.

Valley Radcliffe Club Is Symposium Sponsor

The Radcliffe Club of the Merrimack Valley is one of seven alumnae groups sponsoring the seventh annual "Back to Radcliffe Day" which will be held at Sanders Theater, Harvard University, Cambridge, on Saturday, Oct. 1.

Mrs. Francis B. McCarthy of Andover, president, has announced that the valley club will join the Radcliffe College Alumnae Assn., the Radcliffe Club of Boston and four other New England alumnae clubs who have planned the event. Mrs. Albert S. Rothfeld and Mrs. Robert S. Zollner, local alumnae, will assist at the occasion.

Part of an alumnae program for their continuing education, the event will be a symposium: "Toward World Community - Exploring Alternatives" for which the chairman will be Everett Mendelsohn, assistant professor of history of science.

"How We Look from the Rest of the World" will be a morning address by Juan Marichal, professor of romance languages and literature. Later Carl Oglesby, head of the Students for Democratic Action, will speak on "How Youth Sees Us."

In the afternoon William Alfred, professor of English at Harvard, will read some of his poems, followed by two addresses: "How We Seem to Ourselves", by Rev. Harvey Cox, associate professor of church and society in the Harvard Divinity School, and "Mechanisms of Peaceful Revolution", by Roger Fisher, Harvard Law School professor.

Beta Sigma Exemplars Make Convention Plans

TEACHERS'

 appeared on behalf of the policy board.

On hand from the local teachers' association were its president, Bruce MacDonald and Robert Miner, vice president. They were represented by counsel from the Massachusetts Teachers Assn.

The organization presented the 167 authorization cards to support its position. The hearing was called upon petition of ATA, though the School Committee had discussed such a move in the summer. While the Committee waited for an opinion from Counsel, the association made its move in order to clear the decks for early consideration of 1967 salary proposals.

In its statement, for the hearing the School Committee said it accepts the principle of collective bargaining for certain public employees as defined in Public Law 178 and that it recognized its obligation to enter into a bargaining relationship whenever any group is declared sole bargaining agent for Andover's public school teachers.

At its meeting Tuesday, the Committee added a final point stating that it did not believe its general services supervisor should be included in any association bargaining unit. It was learned later than Jack Berberian, the man who holds this staff position, has signed a card indicating his interest in being represented by ATA.

Bruce MacDonald, ATA president, told the Committee Tuesday that under the law the association can even represent an organization of custodians for the school system should they wish to organize.

Mrs. David Roberts, Exemplar Chapter president, announced arrangements for the first state convention for all Massachusetts chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at the local group's recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Louis Peterson.

The convention will be held in Attleboro on Oct. 15 and 16. William Ross, president and son of the founder of this international organization, will be a featured speaker at the convention banquet.

Mrs. Luis Salazar, vice president, outlined programs for the club year. The next meeting will be a trip to Rockport to visit the Christmas Dove for a lecture and demonstration of holiday decorations for the home. Mrs. Salazar is planning to visit Costa Rica soon and will describe her trip when she returns.

After the business meeting, Mrs. George Farrell, chairman of ways and means, conducted a "nearby new" sale and announced plans for a rummage sale next month.

Social committee chairman, Mrs. George Ainscow, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Marjerson and Mrs. Frank Robinson, was in charge of the gourmet dinner and other arrangements for the meeting.

Niziak Is Coordinator

A local man, Frank Niziak, president of the Studio Shoppe, Lawrence, is again fashion coordinator for the second annual Furniture and Design show which opens Friday at War Memorial Auditorium, Prudential Center in Boston.

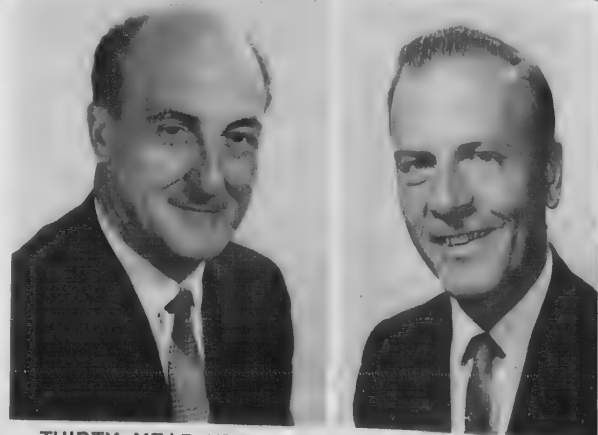

Niziak, who resides at 121 Hidden Rd., has the job of coordinating some 300 settings by more than 100 furniture and accessory exhibitors for the second consecutive year.

The show is open from 1 to 11 p.m. and will run through Wednesday, Oct. 5. On exhibit will be furniture and accessories for the home and office. Included will be an Antique Pavilion, International Bazaar, Art Pavilion and Design '67 room settings by Boston interior decorators. Films, lectures and demonstrations will also be on the program.

Money Taken In Housebreak

A bankbook and $200 in cash were taken from the residence of Alan Schwarzenberg, 88 Rattlesnake Rd., sometime between 12:15 p.m. and 3:20 p.m. Friday.

The house was entered through a rear window, a Dutch cupboard and the master bedroom ransacked, and the telephone cord ripped from the wall in the period that Mrs. Schwarzenberg was away from the house.

Girl Scouts

Brownie troop consultant, Mrs. James G. Hedrick, 185 Lowell St., would like to purchase good used uniforms for Brownies and Girl Scout leaders. Persons who have them for sale should contact Mrs. Hedrick promptly.

Junior Girl Scout leaders are seeking to enlist the help of any local woman who can teach two or three lessons in particular skills for Junior Scout badge requirements. Volunteers willing to instruct Scouts in needlecraft, sewing, health aid, drawing and painting, weaving and basketry and print making are much needed. Mrs. Hedrick stressed that instructors need not have any Scout affiliation, but could be persons of any age who could assist Junior Girl Scouts to attain badge requirements.

Dr. Spiegel Is Speaker

Dr. Lawrence S. Spiegel, 76 Holt Rd., was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Bakers Educational Group of New England held in Brookline on Sept. 26.

Dr. Spiegel examined the problems of food preservation and their relationship to present public health regulations and attitudes. The food product consultant is editor of several technical journals and a 1957 graduate of MIT.

The School Site

Bedazzled as they are bound to be by the sudden unveiling of site development plans and a 10-point program for downtown development, Andover voters could lose sight of the fact that the primary reason they are being called together for a Special Town Meeting Monday is to deal with a proposed solution to the urgent need for a school site in South Andover.

This alone is reason enough for a quorum of voters to be on hand.

It was presumed that this issue had been settled last March when at a Special Town Meeting voters approved acquisition of some acreage off Gray Road. But the potential cost of solving sewage problems both here and in the area of Cottage Farm, the only other site under serious consideration, caused the Selectmen to initiate still another search for suitable land.

This they have found off Bancroft and Holt Roads.

The land that is to be part of the 25-acre site is dry; it is undeveloped; and it is held by relatively few owners. This is about as ideal a situation as can be hoped for when large parcels of land must be assembled for public use.

Parents and others who want to see Andover get underway with construction of additional elementary schools before the system is hopelessly overcrowded will be on hand Monday to vote acquisition of the school site as proposed. Plans for this school are already months behind schedule.

The Town Hall

The Board of Selectmen, the Planning Board and the Finance Committee have long agreed that Andover should construct its new municipal office building in the central business district.

Though arguments about the specific location have gone on unabated, these chief spokesmen for the townspeople have stuck to the precept that plans for the revitalization of the center of town should revolve around the town hall location.

The people will have their first say about the matter at the Special Town Meeting Monday.

Is it valuable to the town, financially and aesthetically to have its seat of government in the central business district? This is the question voters must put to themselves BEFORE they get involved with trying to make a decision about the Lally-Barnard property as a specific site proposal.

If the people embrace the "impact" and "focal point" attitudes, then they must be prepared to pay the price for acquisition of prime downtown property . . . and chalk it up to experience. They must pay now for the support they gave to those selectmen of 10 and 15 years ago who

Town Meeting Comments

Newman Would Save Punchard House

FROM WINTHROP NEWMAN

I agree most heartily with what Mr. Howell Stillman says in his letter to the Townsman of Sept. 22, 1966. It would certainly be a very foolish thing to build our new Town Hall on "an island surrounded by traffic" which is what the Barnard-Lally site really is. Not only that, but the potential parking space is very limited. There can be no parking whatever on the west side of it because of the very high wall along North Main Street and there is very little available on the High Street side. Money will have to be appropriated to buy this property and we will lose the taxes on it besides. While all the time we have town-owned land which is not being used. Does money really grow on trees in Andover?

The Town owns the Shaw property and the land to the rear of our present Town Hall, and they both have an abundance of parking space nearby. The Shaw property is outside the traffic lights while the present Town Hall area has the advantage of being between the traffic lights, and in that section, also, are the banks, the paper store and most of the other stores people frequently go to when they have Town Hall business.

But there is another reason why we should forget the Lally site: it contains the home of the founder of our high school, Benjamin Hanover Punchard. He bought the place in 1829 just before his marriage to Martha Marland. At the time the home of Dr. Abiel Pearson (1756-1827), Andover's late physician, occupied the site.

After living in the Pearson home for sixteen years Benjamin Punchard was desirous of having a new home, something he had been planning for a long time. He moved the Pearson house to a lot of land on the East side of High Street where it stands to this day, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Glendinning. Then Benjamin Punchard proceeded to build his dream house on the site of the Pearson home and he and his family moved into it in 1846. And here it was that he passed away on April 4, 1850. His wife Martha continued to live in the house until her death there in 1871.

Martha Marland Punchard survived her husband until March 29, 1871. A year later the Punchard home was purchased by William Whitman who sold it in 1882 to Peter D. Smith who sold it in 1891 to Jacob W. Barnard. His family lived there until a few years ago. Mr. Barnard's heirs sold it in 1959 to F. Thomas Critchley who in turn sold it in 1963 to Raymond J. Lally et alii. And there it stands to this day towering over North Main Street like some medieval castle. This is one of our historic landmarks that Urban Renewal, so-called, planned to destroy. And more recently our Planning Board has proposed the same vandalism. But let us hope that Andover will operated on the principle that a penny saved is a penny earned. A look at present land values in the commercial district is proof enough that this "ain't necessarily so."

If the townspeople, on the other hand, reject the idea that a municipal office building must be downtown; that it must occupy a dominant location; that it is essential to the welfare of a thriving business district, they have available to them one practical alternative. They can reject the Lally-Barnard property as a town hall site and direct the Selectmen to proceed with construction of a municipal office building on a portion of town-owned property at the high school site.

It is all but forgotten that this was the second choice of the most recent committee to study the municipal building site problem. Five members of this study group (which included the Board of Selectmen and a spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce) agreed June 20 that if the town hall was not to be built in the Musgrove block where it could contribute to dramatic improvement of downtown conditions, it should be built away from the center . . . on Shawsheen Road.

But we do propose that the townspeople vote on-the-spot approval of construction on Shawsheen Road if they are not persuaded at Town Meeting that a downtown office building is worth the investment required.

Nothing should be permitted to further delay pending municipal building projects, when the money has already been allocated.

Fire Station

It was a long time coming, but not unpredictable — the decision of the Board of Selectmen to approach Town Meeting with a fresh fire station proposal. In a rare display of unanimity, the Board agreed last week to ask townspeople to re-vote the fire station question, approving location of the facility on the old Tye warehouse property on Main Street instead of at the Stevens Street intersection as authorized last March.

The decision is a popular one in many quarters, and has much to recommend it. Great numbers of people have questioned the logic of a fire station at the foot of North Main Street, at the bottom of a hill and abreast of Harding Street with its narrow, weight-restricted railroad bridge. An undetermined number of firefighters and deputies have lobbied ceaselessly for the change. Selectman Sidney P. White has been unrelenting in his push for reconsideration.

And the time was ripe for an approach to Contractor C. Lincoln Giles whose plans for development of an apartment complex in the warehouse shell have been postponed more than once in the past two years. As Giles puts it, he has found "greener pastures elsewhere": he would, in short, welcome the opportunity to recoup his investment.

It all appears fortuitous, and we are inclined to agree that the Selectmen have decided wisely.

the Punchard Trustees' money being spent on our high school: the name of the founder of our high school was taken away from his school. Let us not add to that indignity the destruction of his home.

White Light

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
Some of the reason why Andover is needlessly faced with the "challenge of change" is its administrators, the selectmen, their principal delegate and the finance committee, consistently fail to meet the challenge of competence. Consider the proposed central fire station as a case in point:

The location of a fire station in a town of Andover's composition can be anywhere inside of any part of the area it is to protect. Fire insurance companies, those who bear the risks of financial costs of fire, are generally agreed in that. Simple arithmetic bears them out.

Today's roads allow a fire engine to respond to any place within 2 miles of a fire station within four minutes. Of that time, perhaps 2 minutes, or 50% is consumed getting the engine the first 400 feet from the fire house after the alarm has been received. Clearly it is time wasted to insist that a fire station be located at any particular place within a mile in the area it is to serve.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago — September, 1891
Saturday afternoon Officers Cheever, Frye and Higgins went to the Labor picnic at Shawsheen Grove and seized sixteen cases of lager beer, although the bottles were labeled orange phosphate.

The street railway cars are running: the "convenient nuisance" is in our streets, and evidently so placed to hereafter be a fixture in Andover life. . . The "old Andover" has passed away, and now the "new Andover" begins. To the old resident this change touches a mournful chord and with reason; his life has seen so much of the old town in its quiet wealth and historical beauty and interest, that such an innovation as this could not help bringing sadness to him.

People in Frye Village are pleased with the electric cars and a large number from here travel on them. The only complaint heard yet is that the cars are generally full when they get here.

50 Years Ago — September, 1916
Nesbit G. Gleason of this town defeated Peter Holt of North Andover in the contest for the Republican nomination for Representative in this district by the substantial majority of 273 votes. Miss Mary Murphy of High Street is ill with typhoid fever.

Augustine E. Conroy, son of Dr. E. C. Conroy has tendered his resignation as carrier at the local post office. Mr. Conroy enters Tufts College, taking up the pre-medical course. He was appointed by ex-postmaster Bliss and was one of the youngest carriers in the foot service.

Schools opened Monday with 83 pupils less than in 1916. Punchard showed an increase, but Centre Schools lose nearly 50.

Herbert S. Gott will sail for Europe next month to engage in the YMCA there.

25 Years Ago — September, 1941
Local homeowners needn't worry any more about using too much water. The Board of Public Works announced this morning that the ban has been lifted.

A little thing like a $6000 fire doesn't stop Sid White. Sid had spent the best part of the summer making the oldest house in town look, from the outside at least, like the newest, when a violent fire, raging through the building early Sunday morning set him back considerably further than his starting point. However, he has spent so much time and money on the old Abbot homestead already that he's darned if he is going to be stopped by a little fire, gutting a small matter of eleven rooms. He's planning to repair the damage and eventually, live in the place himself.

At a survey this morning by local officials and church and railroad authorities, at the crossing into St. Augustine's Cemetery where three local people recently lost their lives, it was decided to install there a protective device consisting of automatic gates, a blinker light and a bell.

10 Years Ago — September, 1956
Miss Joan Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Arnold, 180 Shawsheen Road, enrolled recently at the Boston Conservatory of Music.

Mr. and Mrs. Emile Boulanger, 78 North Street, celebrated their Golden anniversary Monday. Plans for the United fund residential drive were mapped at a meeting in the home of Mrs. David Thompson on Porter Road. Attending were Arthur E. Sunderland, Selectman Stafford Lindsay, Mrs. Dino Valz, Mrs. David Thompson, Mrs. Ralph A. Kimball, Mrs. Thayer S. Warshaw, Mrs. Donald Dustin, Mrs. Ralph A. Hill and Miss Miriam Putnam.

Erma Neunzer of Woburn Street has been elected president of the Young Republican Club.

Jim Bennett, No. 14, crossed the goal line for Punchard's third touchdown Saturday in a game with Wellesley that Punchard won 21-7.

Bill Fisher, triple sports star at Punchard has signed a Milwaukee Braves farm contract.

Irving J. Whitcomb has been elected commander of Legion Post 8.

Librarians' Conference Attracts Andover Staff

The fall meeting of the New England Library Assn. at Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 14-17 was attended on Thursday, Sept. 15, by Mrs. Ross Eldridge of the Memorial Hall Library children's room staff, Mrs. Henry Berry, South Elementary School Librarian and Mrs. R. Scott Quinlan, Sanborn Elementary School Librarian.

New fall books on display were examined with a view to purchase. Mrs. Quinlan and Mrs. Berry attended the morning meeting of the New England Children's Book Clinic, the subject of which was "Is it for children?"

The speakers were Paul Galdone, illustrator of the ANATOLE books by Titus, Galdone is very fond of animals, especially mice.

Miss Nonny Hogrogian, winner of this year's Caldecott medal, designer and illustrator of ALWAYS ROOM FOR ONE MORE by Leodhas, told how she plans her book illustrations to suit the text and spirit of the book.

Miss Dorothy Shurtlesworth, associated with the American Museum of Natural History, discussed books she writes on natural history subjects: THE STORY OF ROCKS, THE STORY OF SPIDERS and new ones in process on world conservation. Black widow spiders are maligned, she says.

Mrs. Lavinia Russ, children's editor of PUBLISHERS WEEKLY, gave a very witty talk about children's books. She does not think books mixing fact with fiction are suitable for children, nor books which suggest contentment with one's lot, as this would preclude progress.

Books written as moral propaganda are not favored by Mrs. Russ. She recommends books to give joy, and she considers controversial books very stimulating to children. Some books of this type are: HARRIET THE SPY, WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE, DROP DEAD, TOM SAWYER was once a controversial book.

Mrs. Russ participates in a television program in the New York area, on which children discuss books they have read, with John Langstaffe as moderator.

The afternoon meeting, attended by Mrs. Eldridge, was the annual lecture honoring Caroline M. Hewins and Frederic G. Melcher. The subject "Lachrymose Ladies" became an interesting story of contrasts in the capable hands of M. Jane Manthorne, co-ordinator of Young Adult Services at the Boston Public Library. Her "Lachrymose Ladies" were from THE WIDE WIDE WORLD by Susan Warner, THE LAMPLIGHTER by Maria Cummings and the Elsie Dinsmore series by Martha Finley.

These three authors had a large public following in the 19th century. She pointed out that while these ladies were sweet, pious, patient and long suffering, other characters in these books who did not follow the straight and narrow path were ruthlessly disposed of in short order. The great acceptance of these books made Nathaniel Hawthorne tell his publisher that he would write no more as long as the public welcomed this saccharine sentimentality.

Librarians were briefed on the latest developments in library legislation, the library needs of New England, regional planning for library service, as well as more specialized concerns such as classification, binding, children's literature, and books for young adults.

Distinguished speakers at the conference included play-write Marc Connelly, columnist Art Buchwald, and Colonel Remi O. Renier, U. S. Corps of Engineers, who spoke on "Projections for Planning in New England to the year 2020."

Wentworth Meeting

On Saturday morning Miss Elizabeth Russell attended the meetings of the School Library and Young Adult sections.

Miss Milbrey Jones, program specialist for the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C., addressed the group on the subject of "Trends in School Library Development." She spoke of the impact and effect that the federal funds have had on school libraries. To dramatize her point she described a library of the 1920's, 1945 and 1966.

At the Young Adults section two popular and successful authors, Madeline L'Engle and Mary Stolz spoke from first hand experience on the subject "Writing for Young People."

Art Buchwald, the syndicated columnist, was the highly entertaining speaker at the luncheon. Speaking just as he writes, he spoofed every important event in the news, while attaching a serious connotation to each trivia item.

Books & Ideas

It is still not too late to become a member of the Great Books group at the Memorial Hall Library which meets every other Tuesday during the year. The first meeting of the current season will be held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m. The reading for this session will be Anton Chekhov's CHERRY ORCHARD and THE THREE SISTERS. College Aid Is Available

College scholarships for 400 outstanding high school seniors will be awarded again this year, the U. S. Army has announced.

The scholarships will be good at any of 247 colleges and universities in the United States which offer the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) program. Students can choose their own field of study and the only requirement will be that they take ROTC.

Dale H. Tomlinson, 3 Tobey Ln., received one of these four-year scholarships last year and is now enrolled as a freshman at Bowdoin College.

Selection is based on academic excellence, extracurricular activities, physical standards, results of college entrance examination boards, personal qualities, and leadership potential. The Army is looking for the very best.

This is the third year of the Army scholarship program. Last year 400 high school graduates were selected. The scholarships pay full tuition, textbooks, and laboratory fees, and provide a $50 monthly allowance for four years.

High school seniors, their parents or teachers can get information by writing: ROTC Scholarship, First U. S. Army, Fort Meade, Maryland 20755. Deadline for submission of complete applications is Jan. 15, 1967. However College Entrance Examination Board Scholarship Aptitude Tests must be completed no later than December 1966.

Electric School Writer's Topic

The September issue of "Contact", a New England Electric System publication, includes an article about the history of the Andover public school system in connection with mention that when completed the town's new senior high school will be the largest total-electric high school in Massachusetts.

The article, written by Helena

McCall of Lawrence, is based on research done by Jay James Jr. for a senior history paper at Phillips Academy. By coincidence, Jay James Sr. is the man who developed the total-electric proposal for the new high school. He is commercial sales manager for Massachusetts Electric Co.

Presents

THURSDAY NIGHT THEATER

OCT. 6

"Thursday Night Theatre" is a unique experience in the theatrical world.

It is an attempt to begin on a modest, uncostly scale a plan that will establish the first year round playhouse to be built in a suburban New England area.

Why this modest beginning: to build momentum, to walk before running so as not to become financially bankrupt and kill the dream before it can start (as has happened to so many others).

Why unique: because we offer a theatre supermarket-ample free parking, lounge and restaurant facilities, comfortable seating, smoking and the enjoyment of refreshments during the show.

Our prices are supermarket type too. $2.00 per person ($1.50 for groups of six or more or for individual subscription to three plays).

Your support will enable us to strengthen our base of dignity and stability from which we will expand our production schedule.

Examine our repertory and make your reservations-NOW. (Organizations are invited to buy "A night at the Theatre". It's an ideal way to raise funds).

MRS. RITSUKO CHOJIN

Club Begins 45th Year

The Shawsheen Village Woman's Club will begin its 45th year Monday, Oct. 3, at Andover Country Club when its new president, Mrs. Philip Winters, will preside.

"It's a Big, Wide, Wonderful World" will be the club's general program theme this year featuring special programs about various foreign countries. Refreshments for each meeting will be desserts popular in the specific country discussed that evening.

Monday's program about Japan will include a demonstration of both classical and contemporary Japanese flower arrangements by Mrs. Ritsuko Chojin and an accompanying lecture by Mrs. Bella Y. Tellefsen. Mrs. Chojin will also perform a tea ceremony and discuss other aspects of Japanese life.

Mrs. Chojin comes from Japan and has studied classical flower arranging at the Salsan School for four years and contemporary Japanese arranging at the Yagariya School for six years. A past Garden Club Federation flower show judge, Mrs. Tellefsen is past president of the Andover Garden Club and an active gardener and speaker.

Hostess chairmen for the evening will be Mrs. Alan Chadwick and Mrs. Allan Kryzyski.

Institute Offers Language Classes

Registration for language classes sponsored by the International Institute of Greater Lawrence will begin Monday, Oct. 3, at the Institute, 19 Orchard St., Lawrence. Douglas M. Dunbar of Andover, executive director, announces that classes will meet from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Monday evenings the following classes will be offered: French, taught by Mrs. Keith Chisholm, a native Frenchwoman who studied at the Sorbonne in Paris and has been a Pike School teacher for eight years; Italian, taught by Miss Janet Conte, Andover Junior High School teacher who has studied languages at Boston University, attended the Middlebury College Italian School and specialized at the University of Rome and in Paris; and Spanish, taught by Endicott Junior College faculty member Rolando Gonzalez, who was a teacher in Cuba for 13 years after attending the University of Havana.

Scheduled for Wednesdays are a class in German with instructor Miss Rosalie Bruck, who has many years of teaching experience both in this country and in Germany, and a Russian class to be taught by Edward Stanulis, a graduate of Russian and Lithuanian universities, who has been a teacher of Russian in Lithuania and here.

Roger Higgins, Mrs. Richard Durham and Mrs. R. C. Bridgman will conduct beginners' and conversational English classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

During the summer two-hour classes in English were held Monday through Friday mornings. The instruction was especially aimed at the needs of non-English speaking men on the 3 to 11 p.m. shift in factories and mills. Because of its success, this class will be continued through the fall term and will be open to anyone needing instruction in English. It has been conducted by Mrs. R. G. Bridgman, Mrs. Selma Sternlieb and Miss Helen Wesolowski.

ACCOUNTANTS MEETING

OBITUARIES

ERNEST J. COUTURE

Ernest J. Couture, 221 Lowell St., died on the morning of Sept. 21. The 67-year-old man was pronounced dead on arrival at Lawrence General Hospital.

A chef, Mr. Couture was born in Sherbrooke, P.Q., Canada, Oct. 30, 1898. He attended St. Augustine's Church and was a member of the Holy Name Society, Andover Council 1078, Knights of Columbus, and Father O'Donnell Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by his wife, Annie (Hill) Couture, three daughters, Irene, Joan, wife of Wilfred Beaudoin and Anne, wife of David Reed, all of Andover; seven sons, Romeo, Roland and Ernest of Florence, and Normand, Alfred, Richard and Raymond, all of Andover; his mother, Mrs. Alice Couture of North Andover; four sisters, Cecile, wife of Edward Brady, and Mrs. Yvonne Jacquart, both of Lawrence, Mrs. Olive Tisbert of Andover and Mrs. Antoinette Howarth of North Andover; three brothers, Romeo of Methuen and Leo and Henry of Lawrence.

The funeral was held Sept. 24 with a high Mass of requiem at St. Augustine's Church. Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

SAMUEL A. CARPENTER

Samuel A. Carpenter, 83, a former resident at 4 Red Spring Road, died Sept. 26 at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston, of heart seizure.

The Acworth, N. H. native lived in Andover 17 years. Until his retirement, he was employed by Boston Edison Co. He was a member of Andover Baptist Church.

Mr. Carpenter is survived by his sister, Mrs. Lloyd Cameron, Milford, N. H.; a brother, Harry W. Carpenter, also of Milford; a niece and a nephew.

The funeral will be held today at 1:30 p.m. at Lundgren Funeral Home with Rev. Earl B. Robinson of Andover Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in Meadowview Cemetery, Amherst, N. H.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Essex North Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Assn., 88 Emerson St., Haverhill.

MRS. ALICE G. RICHARDSON

Mrs. Alice G. (Hilton) Richardson, 196 N. Main St., widow of S. Douglas Richardson, died Sept. 26 of what was diagnosed as coronary thrombosis. The sixty-seven year old woman was taken to Lawrence General Hospital by the fire department ambulance.

A native and life time resident of Andover, Mrs. Richardson was a member of Christ Episcopal Church.

She is survived by four sisters, Ethel L., Doris and Elizabeth M. Hilton and Mrs. Higus (Bertha) Asolan, all of Andover; two brothers, Herman Hilton of Andover and Rev. John Hilton, an Episcopal minister in Carlisle, Pa.; also two nieces.

The funeral will be held today at 2:30 p.m. at Christ Church with Rev. J. Edison Pike, rector, officiating. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery. Gifts may be made to the Alice G. Richardson Memorial Fund of Christ Church.

AUSTIN J. BROWN

The TOWNSMAN has recently learned of the death of Austin James Brown, 76, of St. Petersburg Beach, Fla., who died July 28.

Mr. Brown moved to Florida 16 years ago from Rahway, N. J. A 1910 graduate of Phillips Academy, he was a member of the Baptist Church, a Mason and belonged to the York Rite and Shrine. He had been employed many years by the Electrolux Corp.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ella Barton, a native of Andover; two daughters, Mrs. Jay Manewall of St. Petersburg Beach, and Mrs. Robert Walton of Rahway; and four grandchildren.

FRANK NIZIAK

The Studio Shoppe's Role In The PRUDENTIAL CENTER SHOW Is Only Part Of The Story -

How does the Studio Shoppe measure up as a leading furniture store and home decorator center on a New England-wide level? Facts show that we are leaders in the Northeast . . . and we are even in the national picture. Here is why:

Now in progress is an annual Boston home furnishings and better living show. It is noteworthy that all furniture brands featured are available at one store exclusively in this area and that is the Studio Shoppe.

Also of note is the fact that the color schemes introduced to this area and suggested to you for some time now by the Studio Shoppe have been chosen as the outstanding new colors for 1967 by the current House and Garden magazine.

Last week, we announced the particulars about New England's second annual "Furniture Fashion and Design Show" starting tomorrow at Boston's Prudential Center War Memorial Auditorium. The Studio Shoppe was not only selected as an exhibitor, but again this year Frank Niziak was chosen as fashion coordinator for the ENTIRE EXHIBITION! 100% of what you see in this fascinating show was coordinated by the Studio Shoppe . . . the colors . . . the harmonies . . . the go-togethers are our handiwork . . . which we offer to you at our shoppe every day - and for free!

The show will continue through Wednesday, Oct. 5th and will be open from 2 to 11 p.m. each day (including Sunday). Special reduced admission tickets ($1.00) may be obtained here.

MRS. ROBERT A. LOUD

Loud - McMillan

Miss Elizabeth Ann McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald J. A. McMillan, 452 S. Main St., became the bride of Robert A. Loud, son of Postmaster and Mrs. Robert A. Loud, of 184 Haverhill St., North Reading on Saturday, the 24th of September in a double ring ceremony at the Union Congregational Church, No. Reading. Rev. Harold Fohlin performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with an arrangement of white gladiolas and cysanthemums.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie with a pearl trimmed scoop neckline, long pointed sleeves, a fitted bodice and controlled bell skirt trimmed at the back waistline with roses in a white satin bow, the skirt ending in a chapel train. The bodice and skirt were embroidered in a design of seed pearls and crystals. A matching peau de soie pillbox trimmed with seed pearls in a design similar to that on the gown, held her hand rolled, imported silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and plumosa.

Miss Ann Loud, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and wore a gown of frosted amethyst peau de soie, Empire style, with elbow length sleeves and attached panel. Her headpiece was of matching peau de soie, a pillbox with tulle veil. She carried a white basket of orchid poms, white gladiolas and sterling silver roses. Attached were flowered streamers.

Identically gowned were the bridesmaids, Miss Glenda Norton of Andover and Mrs. Paul Muzzioli of Watertown, friends of the bride. Gerald Duggan of Wilmington served as best man and John McMillan brother of the bride and Richard Margeson, cousin of the groom were ushers. Arthur and Mark Proctor, also cousins of the groom, served as junior ushers. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McMillan chose a two piece beige lace suit lined in moss green, matching green accessories and a corsage of roses.

The mother of the groom wore a two piece Blanc dress in tokay with matching accessories and a corsage of gladiolas and sterling silver roses.

The reception was held in Fellowship Hall.

Following a honeymoon in Canada, the couple will reside at 19 Leland Rd., No. Reading.

The bride, a graduate of Andover High School and LaBaron Hairdressing Academy of Lawrence, is employed at Russell Edwards Hair Stylists of No. Reading.

Her husband graduated from North Reading High School and, after serving two years active duty in the U. S. Navy on the Carrier Essex, is employed by Terrell Corp., Wilmington.

BIBLE CLUBS BEGIN SEASON

The Andover Bible Club has resumed its activities, introducing a new format. Any youngster is welcome.

Games, surprises, movies, parties, choral singing, and illustrated Bible stories will be part of the weekly program. The club will meet Fridays at 3:30 p.m. at Andover Bible Chapel, 277 Lowell St. Transportation will be arranged wherever necessary.

Art Teacher Is Married

Phoebe Lord Beatty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross James Beatty, Lake Forest, Ill., was married Sept. 3 to Henri Pierre Boutin, son of Mrs. Pierre Boutin of Paris, and the late Mr. Boutin. The ceremony was held in Lake Forest.

The bride, a former elementary art teacher for Andover schools, is a graduate of St. Timothy's School and Sarah Lawrence College. She was a debutante of the 1960-67 season in Lake Forest.

Her husband holds a doctorate in physics from the University of Paris and was a Fulbright Fellow at Pennsylvania State University. He has worked for Brookhaven National Laboratories, Long Island, N. Y. and as a researcher for the U. S. Army in Boston.

He recently received a fellowship which will take him to Europe for six months and to the Orient for the balance of a year.

The Stigmatine Fathers will hold a fall retreat for Married Couples to be held over the weekend of Oct. 21-23 at the Espousal Retreat House. The retreat, which is limited to 30 couples, is planned to bring husband and wife to a more Christian personal relationship. Catholics, as well as non-Catholics, have been making such retreats at the Espousal Retreat House in Waltham for the past several years.

The Stencilling and Decorative Painting classes held at the Danvers Historical Society on Page Street will begin Thursday, Sept. 29. The morning group will meet from 9:30 to 12:30, the afternoon group from 1:30 to 4:30, and the evening group from 7:30 to 10:30. Classes are open to the public and are for both beginners and advanced pupils. Instruction is given in stencilling, country tinpainting, lace-edge, Chippendale and Pennsylvania Dutch painting, oriental work, free-hand bronze, mother-of-pearl, gold leaf work, and reverse glass painting as found on mirrors and clocks.

Urgent Plea For Clothes

In response to an urgent appeal from WRAP (Warm Response Action Program) of the Church World Service, a week-long clothing drive is being conducted by members of the Social Action committee of Free Christian Church.

Mrs. Glen Theirwechter, drive chairman, has announced that donations of good, usable clothing, especially for men and boys, will be accepted every morning this week at the lower hall of the Elm Street church. A special plea has been made for sturdy clothing for the Vietnamese children whose customary garb resembles pajamas worn by American children. Blankets, bedding, yard goods and infants' clothing are also needed.

Anyone unable to deliver a clothing donation may contact Mrs. Theirwechter or Mrs. Alfred Fuller, chairman of the social action committee. Other committee members are Mrs. Max Russell, Miss Georgina Petrie and Miss Karen Lundgren.

DOWNTOWN

hall, fire station and Shorten garage.

Shown will be a plot plan (see above) which is in line with the idea that this part of town needs to be "opened up" and off-street parking created. In approximately the position where a four-car lot is now located in front of town hall, a small pedestrian park would be created as a green area and a screen for a 40-car parking lot. The parking itself would be enclosed by tree-lined sidewalks.

The Selectmen have decided to locate a new Colonial-styled police station at the rear of the block where it would be readily accessible to walk-in traffic and put police officers in close proximity to the area where they are most frequently on foot patrol.

Among others of the 10 points are proposals for improving the appearance of Main Street overall, added municipal parking for 60 cars, general improvements in the traffic circulation system, beautification and enlargement of the present municipal parking lot and a general upgrading of stores and offices throughout the business area.

It is easier to make new opportunities than find lost ones.

Andover Voters League Launching Fund Drive

On Monday, Oct. 3, the League of Women Voters of Andover will launch an expanded appeal for funds. For many years the League has relied on a dedicated hard core of about 250 contributors in the community. Each year a few names of civic-minded citizens were added to help meet rising costs and such increased services as townwide mailing of candidates' information sheets.

Now the League faces a new problem in the form of progress-leagues are being organized in Methuen and North Andover. The Andover League will still be able to count on some solicitation in Lawrence, but the bulk of its financial support will have to come from local residents.

To replace the significant loss of North Andover contributors, approximately 70 Andover league workers will call on an additional 150 local citizens and businessmen this year.

The finance chairman, Mrs. Douglas Dunbar, is optimistic about the fund drive. Commenting on the prospects for an expanded appeal she said, "The League has firm roots in Andover. To me a contribution to the League is an important sort of status symbol. It earmarks a person as one who is committed to progress government, and one who realizes that he must assume his active share of responsibility. Of course every community has its share of those who seem to contribute only taxes and children to the school system. But our League experience indicates that Andover has a very healthy share of citizens with wider horizons."

Miss Kathy Essolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ace Essolan, 22 Bellevue Rd., recently resumed her studies at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, S.C., where she is a member of the junior class. A 1964 graduate of Andover High School, Miss Essolan is majoring in English.

BUSINESS PROFILESThe 1967's Are Here!

The 1967 Chryslers and Plymouths are now on display at Clark Motor Company, located at 273 South Union Street in Lawrence. Clark Motors has a huge lot full of brand new Plymouths, Chryslers, Valiants, Imperials and Barracudas in all colors and models. These beautiful new Chrysler Corporation cars were recently delivered and some are already in the showroom awaiting your inspection. You can move up to Chrysler in any of four new models: New Yorker, 300, Newport, and Town and Country Wagons. Plymouth for '67 is out to win you over with five models: Fury, VIP, Belvedere, Valiant and Barracuda. If you can't find a car exactly suited for you, Clark Motors will gladly order one according to your own specifications. Stop in any time and look over this year's models. You will like their smooth lines, luxurious interiors and impressive performance on the road.

Clark Motor Company has six salesmen waiting to serve you: E. Kinney, Ed Provencal, Chris Barrett, Art Batchelder, Ed Earnshaw and Joe Rivers. They are at your service daily, Monday through Saturday from nine to nine. Let them show you the new line and talk to them about a trade on your present car. You will be glad you bought your Plymouth or Chrysler from Clark Motor Company because all their new cars are sold with a five-year or 50,000 mile guarantee. Clark Motors also has a fine selection of quality used cars which they will be happy to show you. They are all serviced and ready to go.

This is a company that you will be pleased to do business with. Mr. Barenholm and Mr. Leoff, the owners of Clark Motors, provide their customers with expert repair work, a good selection of new and used cars, and friendly service at all times, thus maintaining a fine reputation in the Greater Lawrence area.

So if you are considering the purchase of a new car, either a brand new '67 or a good late-model used car, it would be worth your while to visit Clark Motor Company at 273 South Union Street in Lawrence. They are open evenings for your convenience and there are competent salesmen on hand at all times to assist you.

Boy Remains
In Hospital

James Murphy, 11, a pupil at Shawshen School, is still on the danger list at Lawrence General Hospital where he has been since he was injured in a bicycle-automobile accident on North Main Street Sept. 17.

Young Murphy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Murphy, 19 Corbett St. His injuries include breaks in both his upper and lower jaws, other damage to his head and the loss of all his teeth.

The boy was headed for the shopping plaza on Main Street when the accident occurred. Claude B. Brown, 240 Andover St., driver of the automobile involved, told police that Murphy and another boy (Keith Starks) were riding along near Castle Heights Road when he approached in his car. He said the two bikes seemed to come together as he came abreast of the riders and that Murphy veered into the road, hitting the right rear fender of the car. Brown said he swerved to avoid the impact.

Coffee Hour

LETTERS TO EDITOR

However, in the present instance, it would be hard to find a location within a mile of Andover's business district that has so many extraordinary negative aspects as has the Stevens Street location. That consultants picked that spot is more evidence that they seldom are more than 85% reliable.

That Chairman Henderson has been reported as saying that he would prefer "the center of town for a new fire station" *(presumably the center of the present business district) is more evidence of the superficiality with which our civic affairs are managed. That, in turn, suggests that we need the white light of investigation before we can hope to conquer the problems of change caused by the lack of competence at town hall.

Karl Haartz
60 High Plain Rd.

* Editor's Note: Finance Chairman Henderson used the term "Center of Town" in expressing his preference for the Tyler warehouse location over that of Stevens Street.

'Round 'N 'Round

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
A POEM

'Round and 'round the center of Town
My wandering feet do roam,
Seeking a spot for a new Town Hall,
'Tis better to stay at home.

First it was "Shaw", then it was "Shorten",
There have been so many, I'd nearly forgotten!
We bought Shorten out for thirty four thou,
Turned around three times, - and where are we now?
To Barnard, to Barnard, to buy really big,
From Musgrove to Tyler jig - ity-jig!

Come now, people, this is not funny;
When will we stop squandering money?
My wallet is empty - how do I do it?
My nose is bloody, from paying through it!

Shawsheen Road is a beautiful place;
One hundred acres - plenty of space,
We own it all, free and clear,
No land to take, no damages to fear,
No buildings to buy for a fabulous fee, -
Are we blind, or merely unwilling to see?

'Round and 'round the center of Town
My weary feet do plod,
Seeking a spot for a new Town Hall,
I fear I'll go down in the sod!
Robert G. Goodwin
82 Central St.

Status Quo

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
Probably one of the most valuable pieces of property in town is the present location of our town hall, fire station and the recently acquired Shorten property. The townspeople should remember that we already own this valuable site, and to tear down these buildings and put in a parking area, seems to me to be utterly ridiculous. Common sense then, seems to dictate, that all of the other proposals presented be rejected and we utilize what we already have.

It has been said, by some, that the present town hall is inadequate and antiquated. This is something that I just don't believe. How many buildings have we seen in town (in far worse condition) that have been remodeled and restored into valuable tax paying real estate. The same, can, in my opinion be done with our present town hall. I hope the residents will so vote at our forthcoming town meeting on October 3rd.

Lester M. Thompson

Four PTA Groups Meet
Next Wednesday Night

PTA activities for four Andover elementary schools will begin next Wednesday, Oct. 5.

At Central, classroom visitations will start at 7:30 p.m. for social business only. Later William Hegarty, chief of public relations and public affairs at Western Electric, will talk about "The Student and Industry." An alumnus of Merrimack College, Hegarty has done graduate work at John Hopkins University.

At Sanborn a "get-acquainted" pot luck supper will begin at 6:30 p.m. A short business meeting with a review of future PTA plans will follow.

At Shawsheen, Robert Neil will be chairman for a "get-acquainted nite," starting with a 6:30 p.m. spaghetti supper. Mrs. Irving Nannis and Mrs. Alan Wilson head a supper committee which includes Mrs. Joseph Dorsey, Mrs. Donald Earnshaw, Mrs. Earl Simon, Mrs. John Powers, Mrs. Byron Cleveland, Mrs. Frank Maloney, Mrs. Carroll Mikonis and Mrs. Robert Levanti. Classroom visitations will start at 6 p.m. and PTA president Mrs. Merton Starks will preside at a brief business session after the supper.

West School parents and teachers will gather for a "pot luck" supper arranged by a large committee of room mothers under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bernard Lebowitz. Classroom visitations will follow and PTA president Sydney Rosenberg will preside at a brief business meeting when Mrs. James Hedrick will announce plans for Brownie and Junior Girl Scout programs.
